Another 200 persons were re ported seriously in iured and 1,000 houses destroyed in the latest natural disaster to hit this earthquake-prone area in east ern Turkey.

In addition, at least 13 per sons died in floods which swep down from the mountains after heavy overnight rain had inur dated three villages aroun Gorele, 100 miles north near the Black Sen coast. BLOCKED ROAD

Worst hit by the earthquake were the towns of Fem. where 57 were reported dead, and Kar gol where 32 died.

The tremors blocked road leading into the wild mountain region with falls of rock, and first efforts by army enginee to take relief by truck failed. Army units headed for the villages on foot, horses and doc

LBJ ORDERS PROBE OF CIVIL DISORDER

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Johnson appointed a special commission Thursday night to seek causes and cures for U.S. racial disorders.

Johnson armed the commission with secret FBI data. He said the federal investigatory agency will investigate fully recent racial rioting and "continue to search for evidence of conspiracy."

Democratic Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois will be chairman of the 11-member special commission. The vice - chair-man will be Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, who has been trudging the streets of Spanish Harlem in recent days seeking to damp down racial tensions there.

Crops Nearing Deadline for Rain

Mother Nature has only about 10 days remaining in which to come across with a good general rain to save prairie grain crops from a major failure.

So far, authorities say, crops have held up remarkably well under the summer's drought conditions. Without good subsoil moisture reserves established in 1965 and 1966, failure already would have been assured.

Even so, in the words of

If you're not sure of your tires,

We know what you're thinking: to buy a set of really safe tires would cost you a lot of money.

That's all changed.

The tire that changed it is the new Goodyear polyester, It's one of the safest tires ever made.

Yet you can buy one for about thirty dollars.

The tires are safer, because they're built with incredibly strong polyester cord. It's considered the most significant improvement in tires in 20 years. It's another first from Goodyear.

Goodyear polyesters have all the advantages of nylon and rayon cord tires with none of the disadvantages. The major car manufacturers have selected them as original equipment on their new cars. And not just because they're safer. These polyesters are also true long distance tires. They've practically eliminated the problem of cuts and impact breaks. They're quieter and they're also

Far from Enough

W/HATEVER their other faults it cannot be said that Canadians are in the habit of blowing their own horns, although some of their politicians are not backward in a desire to get full credit for anything

But in the main Canadians as a nation are possibly even too much addicted to reticence or modesty.

Some of this can stem from not being fully aware of what Canada as a nation is doing. It is not likely that many of them know about their country's record of assistance towards the refugee problem of the world, for instance.

It is interesting, therefore, to have a senior United Nations official spell out the contribution Canada is making to this vast and continuing endeavor. Taking advantage of UN refugee week at Expo 67, the representative of the pertinent Genevabased UN agency has revealed that Canada provides more money per capita towards its annual budget than any other nation.

This does not mean that Canada gives more in terms of actual cash; it could not in relation to the size of its population. But even on this basis only the United States and Britain provide more financial help towards the relief of distress among refugees. The amount per head of population, however, is in

This will probably come as a surprise to most people, within and without Canada, but while a matter of satisfaction there is still a great deal lacking in the UN agency's ability to cope more effectively. with its responsibility.

The latter helps some 2,300,000 refugees scat-tered all over the globe. Yet its budget for the whole of this year is only $4,600,000, which works out at a mere $2 per refugee. The "have" nations cannot really be complimented on their generosity.

Impertinence

CREDIT MUST GO to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for its television coverage of the visit this week of the President of France, General Charles de Gaulle. In the main its camerawork was exceptionally good and its word descriptions provided by its staff reporters outstanding.

This, of course, was no more than to be expected of the CBC whose technicians and commentators are among the most highly paid in the world—thanks to the generosity of the Canadian taxpayers.

It is therefore a great pity that in the final phase of its de Gaulle operation its anchor man, Norman DePoe, had to go beyond interpretive reporting and into the field of editorializing by gratuitiously injecting his own personal reaction to the disastrous episode.

After presenting for the viewer a comprehensive roundup of events leading to the French president's abrupt departure, including his offensive statements and Mayor Drapeau's masterly rejection of them, Mr. of the situation in these words:

"We don't need either the Queen of England or the President of France to tell us how to be

Which, of course, is true. But how did the Queen of England, who is also the Queen of Canada, get into the act? Certainly she has never attempted to tell us how to run our country nor has she interfered in our domestic affairs.

What, indeed, in Mr. DePoe's eyes has she done to Canada or to Mr. DePoe that calls for her name to be injected into this unhappy affair?

Certainly Mr. DePoe does not need either the Queen of England or the President of France to tell him how to be a Canadian. But he obviously needs someone to tell him how to be more objective and less objectionable in his opinions. An apology is called for.

Noise Control

VANCOUVER'S police chief wants his city council to take a look at New Westminster's anti-noise bylaw in hope that something similar may be enacted to enable his force to deal adequately with tiresquealers.

'Here our bylaw makes it illegal to have noisy mufflers, and we have this situation well under control," he says. "But our police officers have no authority to do anything about tire-squealing and excessive engine noise.

In New Westminster, on the other hand, the police are getting convictions-"They depend on members of the force to determine what noise is un-

If that is so, other city councils too should examine the Royal City bylaw. Victoria, for example, seems neither to have the squealers nor the noisy-exhaust types in sufficient check. A noise bylaw that really works—and convictions are the evidence of this-would be a blessing.

De Gaulle Performance May Aid Britain

It's an Ill Wind.

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON, from London

By his extraordinary gesture in stoking Quebec separatism. President de Gaulle may have unwittingly improved Britain's fast-fading prospects of winning entry into the European Common Market.

This was the considered view of top British authorities Thursday night after the French leader's hit-and-run mission Canada, which offended public opinion not only in that country but also in France. Until this week, there was hardly a member of Prime Minister Wilson's cabinet who seriously believed there were realistic grounds for expecting French approval of Britain's formal application to join, and France, like all other market members, has veto power over admissions of new members.

 His decision to pull France out of the NATO military In sum, there is a growing British belief, which may well rest only on wishes, that the next year or two say see de Gaulle out of office. And they think this could ease the way for their entry into the Common Market far sooner than they have dared so

In public and in private, the 76-year-old de Gaulle has been advising Wilson of his conviction that Britain, through its link with the Americans, has not become sufficiently European in outlook and aim. Last January, he advised Wilson to settle for the compromise formula of associate membership and argued along

"You say you require certain special terms and transitional arrangements to enable you to adjust to the requirements of the Rome treaty (which set up the Common Market). Remember, then, these are your problems, not ours. as a truly European state? But Wilson at once rejected the idea as defeatist and totally out of tune with Britain's status and needs.

MONTREAL (CP)-Five un fons representing virtually all of Canada's unionized seamen called an emergency meeting Thursday night to decide a course of action following La-bor Minister John Nicholson's announcement to grant shipping companies an 18-month deferment before being required to introduce a 40-hour work week

Results of the meeting will be announced at a press conferende today. LANOR CODE

Norman Olson, public relations manager for the joint un-ions, said the unions felt the government was betraying the Canada Labor Standards Code, effective since July 1965, which he said gave all Canadian workers the right to a 40-hour work

He said the government did not enforce the law as regards seamen because of politica pressure from the shipping com FIVE UNIONS

He said the five unions in volved in the snap meeting are the 15,000-member Seafarers International Union of Canada, the Canadian Marine Officer's Union representing marine en-gineers, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild representing cap-tains and officers, the 3,000member Canadian Maritime Union, and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Trainmer

This Datsun is for automatic people

Shifting gears is like eating sauerkraut. Some people just can't develop a taste for it. And that's been the trouble with compact imports. The automatic lovers didn't want to shift gears and the popular small cars didn't have automatics. Not until Datsun put a smooth Borg-Warner automatic into their new 96 h.p. 1600 sedan. Now the automatic people really have something. Quick, sure handling; power to climb any mountain road and more comfort than a small car ever gave anybody. Plus 100,000 mile dependability. And they love it. Looking for a first-class, low-priced automatic? (Or, for that matter, a first-class low-priced standard shift?)

See us. Drive a Datsun-then decide.

Now It's Galls

By M. V. CHESNUT

It is rather peculiar the way plant troubles seem to come in cycles. One year, our Public Enemy No. 1 is the cutworm; another year, thrips may make it all but impossible to grow good roses and glads. This year, I am being swamped with calls for help from home gardeners whose roses are afflicted with galls.

The specimens sent to me are mostly round, bail-like growths, usually low down on the woody stem, often bigger than a golf ball and covered with prickles, and the growth above the gall is weak and distorted. Almost every mail brings at least one of these thorny balls cut from a rose bush, along with a plaintive letter asking where the thing came from and what to do about it.

A tiny wasp is responsible for these prickly and distorted growths. There are other kinds of galls caused by bacteria, notably the Crown Gall, but these are lower down and are not prickly. The thorny ball caused by the gall wasp is sometimes known in Europe as a Robin's Pincushion.

After mating, the female gall wasp seeks out a rose bush and lays her eggs in the wood of the stem, at the same time injecting an irritant chemical through her hypodermic ovipositor which causes the stem to swell and the prickly ball to form.

This creates a most comfortable home for the grubs when the eggs hatch out. Inside the prickly ball, safe from all sprays and dusts, they feed upon the pith and fibre and sap of the rose wood until they are mature enough to pupate, emerge, and become adult flies, whereupon the whole cycle is repeated and more bushes infested.

Like so many of our other garden problems, rose galls can be prevented but not cured. By the time the prickly ball on the stem is noticed, the grubs are safely holed up within, where no surface spray or dust can reach them. They can be killed with systemic insecticides such as Cygon or Gardol, which render the sap poisonous to all creatures feeding upon the plant, but the distorted growth remains.

The only practicable treatment is to cut away the infested rose stem below the gall and burn it along with its unwelcome occupants before the grubs can complete their growth cycle and become egg-laying flies. As the galls are usually low down on the stem, cutting them out will involve sacrificing a pretty big chunk of a nice rose bush, or turn a whole horde of gall wasps loose to infest your neighbour's roses.

* * * To prevent these galls, it would be necessary to nip the wasp's activities in the bud before she had an opportunity to squirt your rose stems full of eggs, and frankly, I don't think ANY insecticide is 100 per cent effective. Even if you booby-trap your roses by keeping the leaves and stems constantly coated with a bug-killing spray or dust, the wasp would probably still have time to inject her eggs before passing on to a Better Land as a result of contact with the poison. Systemics will kill the grubs when they start to feed, but can't neutralize the irritant chemicals which cause the gall to form.

Fortunately, most of our proprietory rose dusts and rose sprays seem to exercise a certain repellent effect; possibly it is the foul smell of the malathion in the mixture which masks the characteristic scent of the rose that attracts the wasp in the first place. In any case, if the roses are sprayed or dusted regularly and conscientiously throughout the growing season, the wasp will avoid them, seeking easier pickings elsewhere.

their arms like an Indian What will they look like longer than their skirt? Will they love their mini skirt the day they slide across the seat of a convertible that has been parked in the hot sun as they did the day they bought it?

These are things to consider before men go off precipi-tously on a new fashion kick. Those who are pushing for the styles have resurrected the male mini skirts of the past as examples: the Greek armies, the Roman soldiers, the Scottish clansmen. True, But just ask yourselves, men, after they started to wear the

Hustle Spares Hotline

Speedy Lifeguard Saves Young Girl

By BOB PETHICK

A speedy lifeguard saved completing a call on the Saanich hotline at Eagle Park Thursday when he hustled out 60 feet from shore at Elk Lake and pulled a troubled swimmer onto his surfboard.

Ann Marie Hjelm, 12, of Fort St. John apparently started to swim out to the raft but back. She tired quickly and started to sink. Lifeguard Edward Kubek heard the cry for help and set

TAKES A RUN

He took a run at the water with his surfboard and, as one eyewitness put it, "he was there in nothing flat." He pulled the girl out and on the way back talked to her to keep her calm. "When I reached the beach we covered her up and rept her warm. In a little while whe was all right," he said. Meanwhile, William Pike, 1221 udlin, had the hotline phone off the hook and the Saanich ambulance crew was standing by. He was able to report the mergency service would not be

Mr. Kubek explained lifeguards were using the new surfboard technique this year for the first time. The lifeguard belly down on the board then propels himself with a butterfly stroke, "It is very effective," he said.

The young girl is the second erson this year to be pulled out by the lifeguards. A lesson rising out of this rescue is pointed out by the lifeguard staff - "Don't swim alone, no matter how good s swimmer you are."

'Indian Families Need More Social Workers'

DUNCAN-An Indian Affairs official says trained social workers are needed to deal with problems of neglected children on reserves

Ron Sampson, Indian agent, was commenting on complaints by Cowichan band women who said they were being shifted back and forth between the welfare department of the provincial department and the Indian Affairs Department in

They wanted action on complaints that they cannot get funds as foster parents when they take in orphans or neglected children. Mr. Sampson said "Child weland fungus fast! Don't put it off another day! This very weekend, you can battle and beat the most destructive enemies in your rose garden: insects that suck and chew and bite; fungus diseases that mar and blight and wither. You can fight back - and win!

Your weapons come in one easy-to-use plastic squeeze container. The name? ORTHO Rose Dust . . . and it packs two big punches. One: insecti-cides that make short work of aphids, thrips, Japanese beetles, rose weevils. Two: fungisides that really work. Powdery mildew, black spot and rust don't stand a chance. Easy to use — just aim the duster and squeeze. No work. No fuss. ORTHO Rose Dust is effective, economical, and easy to use, just like all ORTHO products.You'll find ORTHO

'Must Liberate Or Exterminate'

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Civil rights leader Whitney Young told Congress Thursday that America has reached the point where it must "liberate or exterminate the Negro."

Young, executive director of the National Urban League, called for a "dramatic new national commitment" as the Senate government research subcommittee opened its inquiry into big city race

Now, he said, it is impossible for moderates to into the ghetto and tell Negro youth: "Turn the other cheek.'

Purchase 'Disgrace'

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) -The New Westminster Labor Council criticized Vancouver industrialist Frank McMahon Wednesday for spending almost $500,000 in the U.S. to buy two race horses.

"I think it's a damn disgrace that he would spend that kind of money outside the country for two horses," said Alec Archibald, an Interjahidines honed by years of national Woodworkers of Ambitter conflict with the French erica business agent. He said the money would have been better spent on education in Canada.

Crops Nearing Deadline for Rain

Mother Nature has only about 10 days remaining in which to come across with a good general rain to save prairie grain crops from a major failure.

So far, authorities say, crops have held up remarkably well under the summer's drought conditions. Without good subsoil moisture reserves established in 1965 and 1966, failure aiready would have been assured.

Even so, in the words of mer with 2,560 acres in southcentral Alberta near Wrenthan, "we'll need rain in the next week or 10 days. "If not there's always next year, you know.' Spokesmen in Alberta and Saskatchewan say that in most cases below but nearnormal wheat crops still are possible with additional rainfall by the first week of stubble crops have deteriorated badly. Average or better yields are still possible in central Alberta.

In northwestern Alberta conditions are poor with some crops already written off in the Peace River block.

E. H. Evans, Saskatchewan's agriculture department statistician, said that in his province, "we'll be lucky to get half of last year's crop." The 1966 wheat crop in Saskatchewan was far above normal at a record 546,000,000

Mr. Evans said crop prospects now range from an estimate of 30-35 bushels an acre in the Rosetown-Biggar-North Battleford-Lloydminster area, to 10 bushels in the Yorkton-Melville-Elbow dis-

Reports from Manitoba showed crop prospects in most areas generally favor able due to extensive rainfall last week. Only in southwest-Manitoba were crops suffering.

Three and Tubb's Tub

Nanaimo Sea Cadets, from left, Doug Clark, Bill Moore and Milan Kacavenda, intend to row their entry across to West Vancouver in Sunday's Centennial Bathtub Race. The fin (they hope) will help stabilize the frail craft in the 32-mile Georgia Strait crossing. Each entrant has to wear a lifejacket and be able to swim confidently, and each tub has to be accompanied by a rescue vessel. Commanding the boy's rescue vessel is Lieut. Charles Tubb, which they feel is a good omen.

Navy's Knees Bared By Economy Shorts

The Royal Canadian Navy has accepted a suggestion from an Esquimalt officer that the silent service should have minishorts. Lieut. John Hedley, engineering officer in the Esquimalt-based destroyer HMCS St. Croix, was awarded $50 by a suggestions award committee for his idea that blue and khaki shorts should be shortened three inches.

The navy announced Wednesday that a complete redesign of the navy shorts will make them 'more practical and more comfortable" while reducing their cost per unit by 12 cents.
